Additional information regarding Question 1
The Federation is a national organisation with member clubs across Great Britain.

- The Federation represents over 540 member clubs in Great Britain with a total membership of over a quarter of a million historic vehicle owners and enthusiasts.
- Vehicles owned by members of the Federation include historic vehicles of many kinds; cars, motorcycles, buses, coaches, lorries, vans, utility vehicles, military vehicles, tractors and other agricultural vehicles and steam engines.
- Historic vehicles are recognised as representing an integral part of British cultural heritage
- Historic vehicles do not form a part of the contemporary transportation structure of the nation. The primary purpose of their journey is seldom the transportation of either goods or people from one point to another but is rather the movement of the vehicle itself. Such use is largely an incidental part of their preservation, enjoyment and presentation to the public and to those having an interest in mobile heritage.
- Federation members restore and preserve these vehicles for their historic interest, exhibit them at exhibitions, shows, community fetes, etc. and currently use the country’s highways both in order to attend at those events, but also to participate in touring events and for general leisure purposes.
- This interest in historic vehicles sustains economic activity worth £5.5 billion annually to the British economy and supports the employment of nearly 35,000 people.
- The Federation is the organisation which represents the UK in FIVA, the international federation for historic vehicles, which has recently become an approved partner of UNESCO, recognising the significant contribution of vehicles, which to date have been overwhelmingly powered by internal combustion engines, to the culture and social history of the World. The cultural importance of this form of motive power for the past century and more might be thought to increase as its probable end comes into view. The Federation regards the exemption of historic vehicles as in principle to be encouraged, as there is no public interest in encouraging the scrapping of cultural artefacts. Historic vehicles in total are estimated to cover only 0.21% of total vehicle mileage in Great Britain, and most historic vehicles rarely travel outside their immediate geographical base, so only a very small proportion of the total will ever wish to take advantage of any exemption in Sheffield.

Additional information regarding Question 19

It is noted that the Sheffield City Council has chosen to adopt the phrase “Vintage Buses”, which is the same as that used by Leeds City Council, to define a proposed exemption.

There are a small number of buses and coaches, most of which would normally be entitled to be within the ‘historic taxation class, which are preserved and undertake what might be seen as commercial tasks solely in order to assist in funding their continued existence as cultural assets.

Following discussion with those involved in this activity, Leeds City Council has, in its Clean Air Zone Charging Order 2018 in the Schedule to the Order entitled “Leeds Clean Air Zone Charging Scheme” defined Vintage Buses to include these vehicles. This has been formalised in the definition of “Vintage Buses” set out in Paragraph 4 of Annex 2 to the Scheme.

The Federation would seek an assurance that the term “Vintage Buses” will be defined by Sheffield City Council in the same terms as those in the Leeds Order.

Additionally, in the opinion of the Federation the exemptions granted in the various Low Emission Zones should be as common as possible to avoid inadvertent breach by its members’ vehicles and that this should at a minimum be that set out in paragraph 3.8.1 of the DEFRA Draft Clean Air Framework of October 2016 in respect of historic vehicles, as has been done in the City of Leeds.

This proposal falls short in that it does not include large or small goods vehicles which are in the Historic taxation class.

It is envisaged that the exercise of the rights of these vehicles would be for easily identified specific purposes such as attendance at events of a cultural significance or for necessary preservation, maintenance or repair in any businesses within the Clean Air Zone which now or in the future may carry out such tasks. These visits would be very rare and thus could have no measurable effect on air quality within the Clean Air Zone.
Additional information on Question 32

The Federation does not believe it proper to answer this question as it assumes that if cars were included, its members’ historic cars would be exempted as being in the Historic taxation class, as is the case in other LEZs/CAZs.
